Boston Bents Philadelphia by One Run-Fouts Tries a New Pitcher and His Team Loses to the Baltimores-Cleveland, Chicago, and St. Louis Are the Wiegers in the West-The Clevelands' Victory Lifts Them Up to Fifth Pince.

Nearly all the games played yesterday were close and exciting. At the Polo Grounds the New Yorks just managed to score a victory off Washington. There was only one run difference in the Boston-Philadelphia game, with the difference in favor of the Bostons, the latter, no doubt, discovering that dilatory tactics such as they practised on Tuesday do not pan out so well on the diamond as ball playing. The Baltimores are surprising pan out so well on the diamond as bell playing. The Baltimores are surprising the critics by winning games right along. and not dropping into obscurity as easily as they had been expected to. The Brooklyns were again their victims yesterday. The Brooklyns are having a hard row to hoe. In the West the Clevelands crawled into fifth place over the heads of the Pittaburghs by defeating the Cineinnati team. Pittsburgh lost to St. Louis in a six-inning contest, rain preventing a full game. The Louisvilles were beaten by the Chicago The results:

NEW YORK, 5; WASHINGTON, 4. When defeat seemed almost certain for the New Yorks at the hands of the Washingtons terday afternoon at the Polo grounds, the lo pesterday afternoon at the Folo grounds, the local players worked with a will at the bat, ran bases brilliantly, and pulled away from their adversaries. It was a game that eyen their warmest admirers feared that the New Yorks would lose. A lead of two runs, such as the Washingtons got in the eighth luning, has in similar contests been the means by which a club has won. For the two innings previous to their turn at the bat in the eighth luning, has in similar contests been the means by which a club has won. For the two innings previous to their turn at the bat in the eighth luning, he new Yorks had not been hitting the ball. Mercer, the Washington twirler, from the first inning on had pitched against them with rare effect, and the spectators were not hopeful of seeing their favorites tie the score. But the life that was insulied time the team during the Western trip had not yet gone from them by any means, and they railled sufficiently to hit Mercer safely inning the times, which, with some rapid beast mines, which, with some rapid beast mines, which, with some rapid beast mines, and they railled sufficiently to hit Mercer safely confident of their abilities to untie the score and get into the mettle and did a great deal toward the safely was not had met mettle and did a great deal toward to their abilities to untie the score and get into the mettle and did a great deal toward to their abilities to untie the score and get into the mettle and did a great deal toward to their abilities of the strength of the release money. Abbey was the first man to touch the battery in the ninth. Abbey barely hit, and the ball fell foul straightway into Farrell's fingers. Selbach struck at the ball three times. Farrell dropped the third strike, but threw Selbach out at first base. Then Radford came to the bat, Some of the spectators were not watching Hadford; they were looking at Capt. Jorce, who was stalking meledramatically about the third base coaching line. When these spectators saw Joyce try to pull off his dy-black mouths f in mowing down the Washington battmen. Meekin struck out ten of them, sometimes two is as inning.

F. Ward was the first man to face Meekin, and began the game by striking out. Joyce got a base on balls. Just as Hassamer struck out, Joyce attempted to steal second and was promptly thrown out, Farrall to Fuller. The way the New Yorks batted in their half of the first inning reminded the crowd of Tuesday's initial inning. Fuller hit the bail hard down to Joyce, who threw wildly to first, and Fuller resched second. He scored on Burke's two-base hit to the quarter box. Dayis went out. Radiord to Cartwright. Wilson's triple, of course, scored Burke. Ward forced out Wilson at the plate on a sharp grounder to Radford. Van Haltren made a bear hit. Murphy was received with cheers when he stepped to the plate. Unfortunately his response was a strike out, and Ward and Van Haltren were left on the base. Selbach started off in the third inning when the Wardingtons made their first run by tapping a single over second base. He went to second on a passed ball and reached third on Radford's out, from Fuller to Wilson. Mercer's hit scored Selbach. E. Ward int to Fuller, who threw wild to first. Wilson got the ball, but not in time to put F. Ward out. Then followed a pretty double play. Mercer ran past second and started for third. He was nearly there when Wilson threw the ball to Davie, and the latter chased Mercerback to second, where he was put out by Capt Ward. Meanwhile F. Ward had started for second and Capt Ward, turning quickly, doubled him up at first, wilson taking the ball. The play roused the spectators to the top notch of enthusiasm.

The Washingtons tied the score in the fourth inning on Joyce's single and steat Hasaamer's double, which scored Mercer and F. Ward had started for second and start for the second hereer and few and the latter chased mercerback to second where some at the large three was hit. In the eighth they forged ahead on Mercer's single, whison's out at first, on which Burke's single, Wilson's out

A goodly s'zed crowd attended the racing at Brighton yesterday. A refreshing breeze blew through the grand stand and made the occupants comfortable for the first time since the meeting opened. Flushed with their success of the previous day, the talent tackled the bookmakers with a vigor yesterday, but they were badly knocked about before the bugic called the horses to the post for a romp over the sticks

In the last race.

The chief interest in the card centred in the fourth race, a handicap at five furiongs. Nine horses were carded, but the bulk of the owners could not see any chance for the money, and six of them withdrew their entries, leaving Werndoubtable Stonenell for supremacy. It was a question with Mr. Dwyer as to whether the lat-ter could concede the fleet mare Lady Violet so much weight and beat her at the distance, but he finally sent his money in on the chestnut. There was a strong tip out on Lady Violet from the fact Bay recently. Opening at 5 to 2, her price rapidly receded to 9 to 5, Stonenell's price remaining almost stationary at 3 to 5. They got away promptly, Lady Violet and Wernberg leading the favorite. Before the upper turn was reached Lady Violet had shaken Wernberg off and Griffin had only to keep his sent from there to the finish. Stonenell made a gallant effort to atch the flying mare in the last furlong, but he was hopelessly beaten, Lady Violet romping home two lengths in front. Wernberg was an indifferent third. The time, 1:0114, is the fastest ever made at Brighton at the distance The racing public will recall the race in which

The racing public will recall the race in which Lady Violet defeated Stonenell at Monmouth Park a year ago. She is one of the fastest sprinters in the country.

Shelly Tuttle was a strong favorite in the opening race at six furlongs. He was at a diadvantage when the flag fell, but Simms lost no time in working the gelding to the front. He was lucky enough to squeeze through on the rail, and in a splendid finish beat Marguerite a head for the purse. Had Bergen used more judgment the sister to Heansey would have won the race. He did not take advantage of Shelly Tuttle's bad position on the turn, and woke up when it was too late.

The second race furnished the biggest surprise of the day and was a harvest for the books, Figaro, the heavily backed favorite, being no better than third, while the second choice, First, finished in the ruck. Dutch Skater, at odds of 15 to 1, lasted long enough to beat the 12 to 1 chance Stonenellie by a head for first money. Stonenellie made all the running, and is improving rapidly.

Harry Reed had no trouble in disposing of a field of doubtful quality in the five-furlong scramble for two-year-olds. The books laid prohibitive odds against the Dwyer gelding, which had the effect of causing a lively speculation on Cockade and St. Pauline for the place. Harry Reed was prominent at an early stage of the race, winning in a gallop. Cockade beat St. Pauline for second muncy in a gruelling finish. Arab was favorite in the fifth race, with Captain T. a well-backed second choice, Vestibule and Panway being the other starters. It was a scorching race from start to finish, Captain T. making the pace until the stretch was reached, where Griffin set sail on Arab. The little gelding swerved under punishment, and Griffin lad to strike the old horse over the head to straighten him. Keefe rode as if satisfied he had the race safe, but by a splendid piece of riding Griffin set sail on Arab. The little gelding swerved under punishment, and Griffin land to strike the old horse over the head to strike the Night Racing in Queens County. Extensive preparations are under way for establishing a race track at Maspeth, on the old Queens County Driving Park's grounds, where an attempt will be made to copy the St. Lonia night racce. The ground was surveyed yester-day by Engineer Cook of Brooklyn, and negotia-tions are under way for establishing a big elec-tric plant on the grounds, and racing will be carried on at night.

FRANK K. WINS THE QUICKSTEP. Blaylook Wins the Prize with the 80 to 1 Chance Frank K.

CHICAGO, July 18.—The Quickstep Stakes was the only redseming feature of the racing at Washington Park to-day, and though the winper surprised everybody, it was a good fast race from end to end and won by the best horse, Frank K., a bay son of Fonso and Belle of Brooklyn, at 50 to 1 in the betting, came Brooklyn, at 50 to 1 in the betting came through driving in the last furlong and won by half a longth from Flying Dutchman, who was only a short head before Jack Chinn's Liesak, who together with the winner. Nona, and Martin Griffin were added starters.

Hey Del Cardes, the Santa Anita coit, was made favorite, as the distance was thought to be to his liking, but the pace he set was too hot even for himself, and he had nothing left when it came to a drive. Haylock rode the winner, and took every advantage that was offered. The stake was worth $3.350 to the winner, $300 to second, and $100 to third. M. P. Metrain owns the winner, who also has won at Hawthorner. The defeat of Cash Day, the odds-on favorite in the opening event, was another surprise to the taient, who only managed to land two favorites during the day. The afternoon was very warm, and the attendance quite large. Summaries:

LOWDON, July 18.—The Daily News says of peaterday's yacht race:

"The Vigilant won on her merits. The race was already hers when the accident occurred to the Britannia. The Britannia's long success needs to be confirmed by a series of victories in America. The visitor has some disadvantage on our courses, as we have on theirs. The Britannia will do well to make the best use of her chances. Yachting honors are short lived, especially as the Americans have a positive egift for surprises in entiless inventiveness and fertility of resource."

The Standard says that the Vigilant gave a fair and square all-around beating to the Britannia, without the shadow of a fluke.

End of the Larehmont Yacht Club Cruise. SHELTER ISLAND, N. Y., July 18.—Between flirting, sailing, and dingy and gig races for the Execution and Dauntless colors offered by Herbert Seeley, the Corinthian sailors of the archmout fleet, who are now on their as nual cruise, managed to pass a rather pleasant twenty-four hours here, even if it was quiet at times. To-night a ball was given in honor of the visiting squadron, and all the girls put on their finest raiment for the event. was whispered that Augustin Monroe and lors if the fleet were kept here any longer, so their brother yachtsunen unanimously ecided to disband the fleet to-morrow morning to prevent any such dire calamity befalling them. while the rest of the fleet will return to Larchmont.

At 12 o'clook the fleet dressed ship, and at 5 o'clock the dingy and gig races were decided over a half-mile course, from the flagship Crassider to and around a stakeboat. The first race, which was for the Execution colors, was for pair-oared gigs over a mile course. This brought out crews from the schooners Atlantic, Gevalia, Crusader, Triton, and Magic. After a close contest the flagship's crew won by two lengths; the Atlantics were second, six feet ahead of the Tritons, while the Gavalias were last. Then came the dingy race without coxawains, which was won by the Clochette representative by three lengths. The Magic was second, Thyra third, and Triton fourth. The Gevalia's man started, but withdrew. After this there was a special sweepstakes race for three-cared gigs with coxswains. After a close and exciting finish, the Katrina's crew won by a quarter of a length from the Crusader, while the Magic's neu were third. In the first race the members of the winning crew received $5 apiece and the second crew $1 each. The winner of the dingy race got $10 and the second man $5, while in the special sweepstakes race the men in the winning boat received $10 apiece.

2:15% in the third heat, and this could have been saved about a second.

The winner is 8 years old, and is well known on the tracks along the Atlantic, as he won most of his races at Baltimore and Philadelphia this spring. His owner, William Hopps, is a keen turfiman of Baltimore and has had his eye on the rich letroit stake since it was opened. J. M. D.'s last engagement prior to his coming here was at the Gentlemen's Driving Park, Baltimore, on the 4th of this month, when he won a heat on the half-mile track in 2:16%. Colwebs, the New York gelding, who sprung into fame by his performance at Philadelphia last month, was a great disappointment here. His chances were hindered by a false start in scoring for the first heat, when he and Sally Simmons went clear round and trotted the mile close to 2:15, according to those who timed them. Rex Americus also want back on the form he showed at Baginaw asd made breaks in every heat that kept him in the ruck, An immense crowd, estimated at over 10,000 persons, was present, and the excellent arrangements for making the spectators comfortable became the more apparent as the capacity of the new grounds was tested.

Before the Blue Ribbon event, the 2:30 trot for foals of 4891, was called, and it isseed through fourgrass. Rod Bud, who got the first, was badly tangled going away the next time, and, after closing a long gap, was only able to force Expressive out in 2:18. The colt's gameness became apparent in the next two heats, when he outfooted Expressive away and shook her off on the homestretch. In the third heat the colt reduced his record to 2:19.

When the 2:24 trotters came out for the Merchants' ahd Manufacturers' Stake the field was bringing $50. Rex Americus $18, and Colwebs $11. After Trimble had made the mistake of chasing Sally Simmons for a mile because some one near the wire said "Go!" Colwebs was dropped, and J. M. D. sold as second choice. After J. M. D. had everhauled Callino and logged home in 2:16% for the first heat, it was $25 to $15 on the laditimorean.
